

Can you find any similarities and differences between where people live in Italy and where the mountains, seas and flat land are?